

Acknowledgments

I would like to thank Michel Nussenzweig for accepting me to his laboratory and his continuous support of my work.

Special thanks to Eric Meffre for his supervision and discussions.

I would like to thank Ralf Ignatius for helping me to organize my work at the Rockefeller University, his constant attention and support.

I am grateful to all members of the Nussenzweig Lab for accepting me to their team and helping me to establish my scientific life in New York.

My work at Rockefeller University would have been impossible without generous support of the Studienstiftung des Deutschen Volkes.

I would like to thank especially my family and my friends for their love, support and interest. Finally I would like to express my gratefulness towards Prof. Pnin who realized and supported my passion for science, never got tired of explanations and discussions, and helped me to develop to whom I am now.
