

Acknowledgement

The present dissertation project has been performed at the “Klinik für Frauenheilkunde und Geburtshilfe” (Director: Prof. Dr. W. Lichtenegger) and the “Institute für Pathologie der Charité” (Director: Prof. Dr. M. Dietel) of the Charité Medical University Berlin, also, in cooperation with the “Department of Obstetrics & Gynecology, Peking University Health Science Center (Director: Prof. Dr. Lihui. Wei) I thank the directors for the opportunity to work and study in their laboratories.

I would like to express my gratitude to the Gottlieb Daimler und Karl Benz Stiftung and to Prof. Dr G. Frhr, Dr D. Schade and Frau Petra Jung, who provided me the opportunity to come to Germany and financial support in last two years.

I would also like to show my great respect and thankfulness to PD. OA. Dr. Jalid Sehouli and PD Dr. Carsten Denkert for their supervision of this work. Their kindness, patience, thoughtfulness, continuous support and encouragement made this work a reality. Moreover, under their guidance I also comprehended the spirit of research and discovery, which I will benefit my future work.

I thank Dr. A. Mustea, Dr. D. Könsgen, Dr. W. Weichert, Dr. G. Oskay-Özelick, technicians I. Koch, E. Glanz and C. Pirvulescu for their help on this working. Their patience and warm-hearted help, inspired discussions and suggestions, expressed me deeply. Furthermore, I acknowledge all my colleagues and friends for their useful advice and support throughout the work. Special thanks go to my best friends Dr. Yan Zeng, whose warm-hearted help and support are never forgotten in my life.

I thank Prof. J.M. Vanacker, Prof. V. Giguere, Dr. M.R. Stallcup, Dr. E. Treuter to provide us the very useful plasmids and their scientific suggestion.

Finally, I would like to show my deeply love and gratitude to my wife, my parents and parents-in-law. Their immense love, encouragement and support animated me to finish this work.
