

XI. Acknowledgements

I would like to express my profound respect and gratitude to the late Prof. Dr. Bernard Krebs, Institut für Paläontologie, Freie Universität Berlin, for the great opportunity by confiding this project to me. Thanks for their help, kindness and discussions to all the colleagues of the Institut für Geologische Wissenschaften – Fachrichtung Palaeontologie – Freie Universität Berlin, to the future Drs. Marc F. Weichmann, Daniela Schwarz, Manuela Nowotny, Regina Fechner and to all other members and staff of the Institut. Gratitude to Mrs. Boehde. Thanks to Ellen Drescher for the preparation of Henkelotherium. I am especially grateful to (future Dr.) Uwe Gloy for his continuous invaluable and positive help. Thanks Uwe for explaining to me the mysteries of computer and machines.

My profound gratitude to P. D. Dr. Thomas Martin, Institut für Geologische Wissenschaften – Paläontologie – Freie Universität Berlin and Dr. Roland Frey, Institute for Zoo and Wildlife Research (Berlin), only with their patience, help and valuable suggestions this study was possible. Thanks for all the discussions and all the time invested in this study. I am very grateful for their marvellous scientific formation given to me. I would like to express my deepest appreciation and I am especially grateful to Dr. Roland Frey, for his guidance, unfailing support and overall thanks for all I learnt with you.

My most sincere gratitude to the members and staff of the Institute for Zoo and Wildlife Research (Berlin) for providing me invaluable scientific assistance and an excellent and very stimulating working atmosphere. Especially thanks to Mrs. Peters for providing bibliography.

Especially thanks to the members of the Institut für Spezielle Zoologie und Evolutionsbiologie mit Phyletischem Museum, Friedrich-Schiller-Universität, Jena (Germany): Prof. Dr. M.S. Fischer, Dr. Remy Hackert, Dr. Nadja Schilling and Dr. Manuela Schmidt for their invaluable helpful suggestions and fruitful discussions. I am very grateful to Dipl.-Biol. Silvia Freytag for her continuous help and for provided me two wonderful specimens of Acomys cahirinus). My gratitude for their assistance and support during shooting and analysis of the cineradiographic film. Thanks to Dr. D. Haarhaus, Institut für den Wissenschaftlichen Film (IWF), Göttingen (Germany) for his patience to make the film.

I am specially grateful to Prof. Dr. Farish A. Jenkins, Jr., Museum of Comparative Zoology - Harvard University (USA) for his constructive teachings and discussions that were a fundamental contribution to this study. My most sincere thanks for the great opportunity to visit and work with you at the Harvard University. Your kindness, positive energy and suggestions were very stimulating and encouraging. Thanks to all the staff of the Museum of Comparative Zoology of the Harvard University for their valuable help and kindness.

My most sincere thanks to Dr. J. Bonaparte (Museo Argentino de Ciencias Naturales, Buenos Aires, Argentina), and all the staff in this museum, for the fruitful discussions, their valuable suggestions, and for providing me with an excellent working atmosphere in Argentina. My gratitude for his kindness in our meeting at the Harvard University.

I am very grateful for his corrections, sympathy, and for his fruitful observations about functional anatomy to Prof. Dr. P. Pridmore, La Trobe University, Australia. Sincere gratitude to Inés Horovitz (AMNH - New York, MNH - Los Angeles) for her valuable comments and kindness.

I would like to express my most sincere thanks to: Dipl.-Biol. Claudia Freyer (many thanks for her help and providing Monodelphis), Dr. M. Ade, Dr. A. Mess, Mrs. Thomas, Prof. Dr. U. Zeller, (Museum für Naturkunde, Humboldt University, Berlin, Germany); Dr. M.S. Alonso and Dr. J. Barreiro (Museo Nacional de Ciencias Naturales, Madrid, Spain); Dr. G. Storch (Senckenberg Museum, Frankfurt am Main); Dr. Ch.R. Schaff, Dr. J. Chupasko (MCZ, Harvard University, USA), for their helpful, fruitful suggestions, and providing me with the necessary research material.

Gratitude to the Graduate Research Program “Evolutionary Transformations and Mass Extinctions” of the Natural History Museum of Berlin. My gratitude to all the “Grako” colleagues (especially to Dr. Marion Link), to Mrs. Vera Galle, Prof. Dr. U. Zeller, Dr. Peter Bartsch, Dr. David Unwin and all the members of the staff in the Museum für Naturkunde, Berlin, for their cordiality, discussions and integration effort in the multidisciplinary Graduate Research Program.

My most sincere thanks for the financial support that was provided by the Deutsche Forschungsgemeinschaft (DFG) (German Research Foundation). “Graduiertekolleg Evolutive Transformationen und Faunenschnitte“, Museum für Naturkunde, Berlin. Humboldt Universität zu Berlin. Project-B2.

Quiero dedicar mi tesis doctoral a mi mujer y esposa Karin Lason. Por haber logrado una heroica hazaña: un tomellosero de pura cepa se doctora por la Freie Universität de Berlín. En el tiempo de cinco añitos he cambiado del contacto con la Brucella a los laureles del Olympo. ¡Cómo iba a ser fácil! Gracias Karin por apoyarme e incluso soportarme en tantos momentos difíciles. Gracias por ver más allá de lo convencional. Te quiero. Mi cariño y afecto a mi familia (especialmente a mi hermano Antonio por su apoyo) y amigos en Berlín y en España. También te quiero a ti, Mila.
