I would like to thank...

...Prof. Dr. Ibrahim Chahoud for his solid academic advice, constant encouragement and support during my PhD course. His incredible ability to lead the group, created a wonderful work environment that allowed me to develop my PhD thesis in peace.

...Dr. Chis Talsness, Dr. Konstanze Grote (Konny) and Brigitte Woelffel for their friendship and fruitful discussions. Their continuous support helped me in several aspects during my stay in Berlin. I am also grateful to Chris, Konny and Pamela Glowacki for their patience to correct the manuscript.

...Hamilton and Antonio, two great friends with whom I had long and precious scientific discussions. During our barbecues in Berlin (with German beer, of course), excellent discussions on general science helped me to expand my knowledge beyond Toxicology. I am also extremely grateful for their sincere friendship.

...Prof. Dr. Francisco Paumgarten for being my bridge between FIOCRUZ and the Institute of Clinical Pharmacology and Toxicology. His solid guidance and supervision during my scientific education in Brazil gave me the essential knowledge to be here in Berlin working on my PhD thesis.

...Anderson Andrade, Simone W. Grande, Olaf Fialkowski, Beate Stahlschmidt, Zeynep Akkoc, Britta Selzsam, Tininha and Karen Friedrich for general help and fruitful discussions. The close cooperation and long scientific discussion with Anderson Andrade was particularly important for the development of this work.

...Wolfgang Koerner and Antonia Schueltz for their conduct and competence to measure the PBDE 99 concentration.

... All of my family and Souza's family, without their emotional support it would be impossible to stay far away from home for so long. Especially, I would like to acknowledge my brother, sisters and nephews for their special attention, caress and kindness.

... My friends in Berlin for their friendship and solidarity, without them my adaptation would have been much more difficult. I also want to thanks my friends in Brazil who always supported me even being 10019 km away from here.
