

Systematic processing of Mars Express HRSC image mosaic quadrangles

Greg Michael, Sebastian Walter, Patrick McGuire, Thomas Kneissl, Stephan van Gasselt, Christoph Gross, Bjoern Schreiner, and Wilhelm Zuschneid

Freie Universitaet Berlin, Berlin, Germany (gregory.michael@fu-berlin.de)

Mars Express HRSC image strips show varying brightnesses caused by differing illumination and atmospheric conditions. Lambert correction improves the situation, but not sufficiently for a visually consistent mosaic. In the absence of a systematically applicable correction for atmospheric effects, we demonstrate a technique to provide image equalisation using a brightness reference map, and show the first processed MC-30 quadrangles from a programme to produce a global HRSC image mosaic.