

Institute of Veterinary Physiology
Faculty of Veterinary Medicine
Free University of Berlin

Comparative studies on acid-base status in calves (Germany) and young camels (Sudan) as influenced by experimentally induced metabolic acidosis

Thesis submitted for the partial fulfilment of a doctor degree in veterinary medicine
(Dr. med. vet.) at Free University of Berlin

Submitted by
Nawal Mohamed Elkhair Fadel El mawla
B.V.Sc., M.V.Sc.
Atbara/Sudan

Berlin 2008
Journal- Nr.: 3196

Supported by a scholarship from German Academic Exchange Service (DAAD) and Sudanese government

Gedruckt mit Genehmigung
des Fachbereichs Veterinärmedizin der Freien Universität Berlin

Dekan: Univ.-Prof. Dr. L. Brunnberg
Erster Gutacher: Univ.-Prof. Dr. H. Hartmann
Zweiter Gutacher: Univ.-Prof. Dr. W. Heuwieser
Dritter Gutacher: Dr. P. Rheinhold

Description: Ruminants, calves, camels, young animals, experimental animals, acidosis, acid-base equilibrium

Tag der Promotion: 19.05.08